The only vets in Gainsborough to offer our own 24-hour, seven days-a-week call-out service.

OFFERING a reduced price to Identichip your pet during a national campaign is typical of the team at Gordon Lochrie's veterinary practice.

Based at the North Street home and surgery in Morton which he shares with veterinary nurse wife Mandy, their five dogs, seven cats and a tortoise, the practice has been established for 13 years.

With two surgeries each week at Kirton Lindsey, you'd think Gordon, Mandy, qualified nurse Suzhy Winfield RVN and part-time animal nursing assistant Leigh Egginton would have enough to keep them busy.

But microchipping dogs and cats is only a small part of the extensive service which has helped the Gordon Lochrie practice expand its loyal customer base.

"We are the only vets in Gainsborough to offer a 24-hour, seven-days-a-week call-out service," said experienced surgeon Gordon.

"Because we live here and keep a very close watch on all the animals in our care, it means all the owners know their pets are being looked after properly."

Passionate animallover Mandy – who also has four horses – speaks very highly of the other team members.

"Suzhy joined us in February this year and has been a nurse for seven years, is very conscientious and caring, takes her job very seriously with a particular interest in dental hygiene and care."

"Leigh is great with all the pets and has a lovely personality."

"We're either here or on the end of a phone and we offer round-the-clock service because we genuinely care."

"So there's always a vet and a nurse on the premises."

The team would rather provide immediate attention to sick or injured animals than have their owners travel out of town.

And, because of Gordon's vast experience, they rarely have to pass a patient on to a specialist hospital.

One perfect example was the Lochries' three-year-old Rottweiler Morgan's two-hour cruciate ligament operation.

Now Morgan's on the mend, surrounded by the constant love and care from her 'family' of professionals.

IMAGINE this typical scenario, it really hits home to why you should microchip your pet without delay.

Your much loved pet has escaped through a broken gate or a door was left open by a visitor perhaps, either way, your pet is now running free.

If someone had found your pet and he was wearing a disc that said 'hello' ive been microchipped please scan me.....this could be done at either a police station, rescue kennels, council office or any vets.

And you then can be re-united with your much loved pet and all for just 3 easy Steps:

Step 1: Phone Gordon Lochrie veterinary Surgery for an appointment in June to have your pet Identichipped

Step 2: You pay just £15.00 instead of £21.50 in June as part of a national Identichip promotion

Step 3: You send off the ID registration and you have now done all you can to secure your pets safe return and to complete this scenario, We at Gordon Lochrie Vets are the only vets now in the area that do our own out of hours, we are on site and so if you do find a dog or a cat that has a pet protect chip disc then you will be able to be seen to have the animal scanned free of charge without delay, we wont send you to Lincoln or Doncaster with an animal you don't know to find it actually lives in the Gainsborough area.

So, ID chipping will always get our vote as over the years we have seen many a happy and quick reunion and this is only made possible by chipping, we've also seen many a lost dog or cat end up somewhere other than there loving home and that just does not bare thinking about when there is an alternative!
